Recommendation on the inclusion of student organizations in the 2023-2026 Graduation Fund

Central Executive Board for Student Organizations (CUOS)
March 2023

1. Foreword

Dear Board of the University, dear reader,

This document contains the recommendation from the Central Executive Board for Student Organizations (CUOS: Centraal Uitvoeringsorgaan voor de Studentenorganisaties) with regard to the inclusion of student organizations in the University of Groningen Graduation Fund Regulations for the period 2023-2026. This year, the student organizations in the category of study associations have been re-evaluated. This document also includes several recommendations with regard to applications from organizations that fall within the categories of ‘sports’ and ‘other’ and which were not yet included in the Graduation Fund Regulations but submitted a request for inclusion in the course of this year.

In this recommendation, study associations are structurally allocated fewer committee grant months than recommended in their previous assessment. This decrease is the result of the revised model based on which study associations were assessed for the first time this year. Unlike in the previous model, committee grant months can no longer be earned simply by satisfying the general and specific conditions. In the new model, points can only be earned on the basis of the additional months via the specific assessment. The CUOS felt that the results insufficiently reflected the actual administrative burden that the organizations were confronted with. In consultation with the ABJZ department, it was therefore decided to assess the organizations under the current assessment model but with a minimal change. Instead of making interim changes to the assessment model, the CUOS recommended awarding a fixed number of extra committee grant months to each study association. The Board of the University has adopted this recommendation. The results of the assessment are thus mitigated somewhat. More information can be found in Appendix A. The next chapters provide an overview of all the applications and assessments, and the methods used by the CUOS. Chapter 4 subsequently explains the evaluation of each organization in detail.

Sincerely,

Myrthe Bekkers	(Chair)
Andrea Gačević	(Secretary)
Jorrit Top	(Treasurer)

3. Working method

3.1 Legal framework

As part of the task set out in the CUOS Regulations of advising the Board of the University on the inclusion of organizations in the Graduation Fund, the CUOS has drawn up this report within the frameworks of policy and finance. The applications were assessed in accordance with Part B of the UG Graduation Fund Regulations 2022-2023 (hereinafter referred to as the Regulations), Appendix 1 in particular, and the Framework for the Support of Student Organizations and University Bodies (hereinafter referred to as the Framework). The CUOS is keen to stress that none of the board members involved in the substantive assessment are or have been members of an organization or are closely involved in an organization in other ways.

3.2 Information provision

In September, the organizations to be re-evaluated received an information email containing all the necessary information about the procedure. All organizations that in accordance with the cycle were up for re-evaluation this year were also invited to an introductory meeting to inform them of the re-evaluation. In addition, they were also invited to information meetings on 10 October and 19 October 2022. After the information meetings, the presentation containing the explanation of the application procedure for the Graduation Fund was sent to all those present.

The CUOS was easily accessible in the period leading up to the application deadline. The opportunity to ask questions was widely used by organizations, because the procedure and submission requirements were not clear to everyone. The CUOS made all documents available on the website in both Dutch and English, together with an explanation of the procedure.

3.3 Applications

This year, organizations could apply for inclusion by sending their applications to cuos.aanvraag@rug.nl before 15 November 2022. The applications received were assessed for completeness, after which the secretary replied by email, stating that the application was complete and would be processed. In cases where the application was incomplete, additional documents were requested and organizations were given the opportunity to submit these documents within a reasonable period. Where it was deemed necessary, personal contact was sought with the organization concerned.

In order for the procedure to be as swift and accurate as possible, it was necessary for organizations to submit their documents in time. Unfortunately, a number of organizations did not submit their applications on time and/or in full. The CUOS had a hard deadline, but did show some leniency and gave organizations extra time to complete their applications where necessary.

The CUOS wishes to emphasize that grants for individual committee members can be requested via rug.nl/studievertraging, and that these grants are not paid out via the CUOS.

3.4 Member lists, student numbers, and privacy

The number of registered UG and/or Hanze UAS students is an essential criterion when assessing applications. In connection with privacy legislation, the CUOS only shares student numbers with the student administrations of the UG and Hanze UAS. In addition, the CUOS asks for complete membership lists, in order to assess the general condition of a 'current and complete membership record' (Art. 4d, Appendix 1, Graduation Fund Regulations) and to prevent fraud with student numbers. All member lists will be deleted after completion of the procedure. This has also happened with the membership lists of the past years. Since 2016-2017, it has been emphasized at all information meetings that providing student numbers is essential. The aforementioned can also be found in later information emails and in the shared presentation for this year.

The CUOS emphasizes to all applying organizations that a proper record of correct student numbers is necessary. Students can only be traced in the UG and Hanze UAS records by their student numbers. Members without correct and up-to-date student numbers will therefore not be counted in the assessment. In connection with privacy legislation, it is not possible to communicate to the organizations which of the student numbers submitted are correct and which are not. This was communicated clearly during the information meetings. However, the recommendation does include how many of the student numbers submitted could be verified. In some cases, there are large differences in the correctness of the membership records supplied. In the worst case, a large proportion of the members supplied were not enrolled at either educational institution; in the best case, only a few were not enrolled. Despite these large differences, the CUOS has assumed a fixed tolerance margin of 5% where needed. The fixed tolerance margin prevents organizations from being subjected to the unreasonable requirement of 100% accurate membership records. At the same time, it promotes fairness and coherence in the recommendation issued, as all organizations have to meet the same conditions.

3.5 Assessment

The complete applications have been assessed according to the general and specific conditions as mentioned in Appendix 1 of the Regulations. For an up-to-date and legally binding overview of the assessment criteria, the CUOS refers to the regulations as can be found at rug.nl/cuos. For the sake of readability of this recommendation, the specific conditions for the study association category are briefly outlined below.

3.5.1 Study associations

The UG allocates committee grant months to UG study associations on the basis of the following rules:

1. An association or foundation must organize activities related to its category.

2. A foundation may be granted a maximum of 30 committee grant months.
3. An association or foundation must draw up annual reports in accordance with Form J, for which a maximum of 3 points may be awarded.
4. An association or foundation that meets the general and specific assessment will be granted months on the basis of the following points scheme.
5. A maximum of 10 points may be gained, both in the general and the specific assessment. In addition, extra committee grant months may be awarded per category as described in the specific assessment.
6. An association or foundation must obtain at least 5 points to be included in the Graduation Fund Part B.

The specific conditions for a study association are as follows:

1. An association or foundation may be awarded 1.5 points for the organization of annual activities for maintaining and promoting the degree programme's teaching quality throughout the academic year and holding regular meetings with the programme director and/or the faculty board.
2. An association must have at least 75 members. Study associations can also meet this condition if 50% of the total number of students of the related faculty/faculties or degree programme/programmes are annually paying members. The reference date for the submitted list of members is 15 November of the year in which the application is made.
3. An association or foundation may be awarded 5.5 points for the organization of activities on the basis of the following scheme:

Activity	Points
a) Organization of major events, such as an annual conference or symposium.	Max. 1.5
b) Excursions, office and work visits in the Netherlands, excursions abroad, organization of lectures and workshops related to the degree programme.	Max. 2
c) Exceptional participation. Examples include international policy, charitable activities or actively promoting inclusion.	Max. 1
d) A periodical with relevant content or a digital equivalent.	Max. 0.5
e) Activities aimed at promoting member loyalty.	Max. 0.5

Taking the above into account, an organization can thus be awarded a maximum of 10 points on the basis of the following scheme:

Activity	Points
General assessment: The association draws up annual reports, pursues consistent policy, and fulfils a broad supportive role.	Max. 3
Day-to-day activities, committee activities, and activities aimed at promoting member loyalty.	Max. 4
Exceptional participation. Examples include international policy, charitable activities, or actively promoting inclusion.	Max. 1

A periodical or digital equivalent with relevant content, which is published regularly.	Max. 0.5
Annual activities for maintaining and promoting the degree programme's teaching quality and regular meetings with the programme director and/or the faculty board.	Max. 1.5
Total	Max. 10

The number of months based on the points in the above schedule is determined as follows:

Points	Months granted
5 or 5.5 points	4 months
6 points	7 months
6.5 points	10 months
7 points	13 months
7.5 points	16 months
8 points	19 months
8.5 points	22 months
9 points	25 months
9.5 points	28 months
10 points	30 months

Additional months on the basis of membership numbers are subsequently determined as follows:

Number of members	Additional months
50% of the degree programme or 200 members	2 months
450-699	4 months
700-949	6 months
950-1499	8 months
1500 or more	10 months

The above implies that study associations qualify for a maximum of 40 committee grant months.

3.5.2 Sports clubs

The assessment criteria for sports clubs can also be found in Appendix 1 to the Regulations. The CUOS wishes to emphasize that sports clubs were re-evaluated this year in accordance with the revised model that was approved by the CUOS in 2021-2022. Further compensation for sports clubs is therefore not necessary.

3.5.3 Influence of COVID-19 on the assessment

One of the most important parts of the re-evaluation is the assessment of the organizations' activities. Organizations are assessed, for example, on the excursions, training sessions, symposia, etc. that they organize. During the coronavirus pandemic, many organizations were able to organize significantly fewer activities. An important reason for this were the measures put in place to combat the virus, which often meant that larger activities were no longer allowed. Consequently, many organizations were not able to organize the activities they would have liked to.

In general, an activity must have been organized for at least two of the three years indicated (according to Form D) in order to count for the assessment. The CUOS realizes that in many cases, this was more difficult because recurring activities such as a winter sports trip or conference often had to be cancelled or organized in a different way. For this reason, the CUOS has been lenient once again with the activity list as the CUOS also sees that organizing an activity, despite being cancelled later on, still takes a lot of time and workload.

APPENDIX A: Compensation for the reassessment model for study associations

This year was the first time that study associations were assessed using the above-mentioned assessment model. Despite a lenient assessment within the frameworks of the current model, fewer committee grant months have been awarded to study associations compared to the previous re-evaluation. The explanation for this undesired result is that the threshold to acquire committee grant months is currently higher for associations. In consultation with AJZ it was decided not to change the assessment model at this point in time, as was done for the re-evaluation of sports clubs last year. Nevertheless, the CUOS wished to compensate the great decrease in committee grant month allocation for the study associations. To this end, it was decided to award each study association 2 additional committee grant months. The CUOS feels that this is a fair way of providing proportionate compensation. The number of committee grant months now better reflects the actual administrative burden.

No extra months have been awarded to study associations that had already reached the maximum of 40 committee grant months, nor to sports clubs that were included this year, because they will be re-evaluated again in 2024-2025 according to the cycle and have now been re-evaluated in accordance with the revised model.<sup>1</sup>
