

If you were a propaedeutic-phase student in academic year 2015/2016 and failed a Year 1 Minor course unit:

Option 1

- Is the Minor course unit still offered? See green list.
- Register for the course unit in academic year 2016/2017.
- If the course unit has been moved to Semester 1 and you have not yet registered for it, you can use the procedure for late registration for course units, which will be open from 25 August until 2 September.

Option 2

- Is the Minor course unit no longer offered but do you only need to resit the exam?
- An extra resit will be offered in academic year 2016/2017. You will be notified about this as soon as possible.

Option 3

- Is the Minor course unit no longer offered and do you need to retake the entire course unit?
- Is there a new Major course unit available that is similar to the old Minor course unit? See orange list.
- Register for the new course unit in academic year 2016/2017.
- If the course unit is offered in Semester 1 and you have not yet registered for it, you can use the procedure for late registration for course units, which will be open from 25 August until 2 September.

Option 4

- Is the Minor course unit no longer offered and do you need to retake the entire course unit?
- Is there no other Major course unit available? See red list.
- Contact the study advisor to discuss possible solutions. The course unit may be offered again or a similar course unit may be offered, depending on the number of students. You will be notified about this as soon as possible.

Option 5

- Do you want to or do you have to choose a different Minor?
- Contact your study advisor to discuss and compile an alternative study programme.
- Ask permission from the Board of Examiners for your change of Minor.
- The Board of Examiners will take a decision based on the number of places available in the course units and the reasons given for the requested change.
