Korea-EU carbon neutrality policies and economic diplomacy

Organized by the University of Groningen

Sponsored by Korea Foundation and University of Groningen

The climate change crisis is becoming ever more pressing issue and more and more countries set highly ambitious goals, including those encompassing carbon neutrality. The European Union, China, Korea, and Japan have all set such targets. In this workshop, we would like to highlight critical issues in transitioning towards climate neutrality and to do so we explore the topic from an interdisciplinary perspective, including politics, law, and economics.

The selected contributors will be invited to an on-site conference to discuss their papers and receive feedback. Selected papers will be published in a special issue journal. The concerned specific topics are:

- Energy transition pathways
- Industry support policy schemes and effects of governments
- Social justice
- Carbon border adjustment mechanism

The workshop will take place on October 14, 2022 at the University of Groningen, The Netherlands. Authors at all stage of their career are invited to submit research papers via e-mail to Sunkung Choi (s.choi@rug.nl).

Organizers:
